The South East Arts Education Advisory Committee seeks to complement the work of teachers at second and adult education levels through interventions which assist in developing the innate creativity of students.

Arts Education Advisory Committee for the South East

Established in 1980 to implement the Arts Council report, The Place of the Arts in Irish Education: Report of the Working Party Appointed by the Arts Council (Ciarán Benson, 1979), the Arts Education Advisory Committee represents all educational interests and leaders in counties Carlow, Kilkenny, Tipperary South, Waterford and Wexford.

It seeks to promote arts education in schools and communities in those areas through a bilingual programme. Based in Co. Kilkenny VEC, the programme is funded by the Department of Education and Science.

The programme covers the visual, literary and performing arts. The Committee devises and implements an annual arts education programme in consultation with all educational interests and is based on their requests, needs and proposals. (It does not work in primary schools.)
